Storm Center of the Rate War Is Located in Chicago.

Another schedule which will not tend to shorten the rate war has been established by the Burlington between Chicago and Denver. The new schedule is on mining machinery and will simply add fuel to the flames. Under the new tariff, the rate from Chicago to Colorado common points is 37 cents and from the Mississippi river, 22 cents, and from the Mississippi river, 23 cents.

Before this reduction, the rates were 22 and 84½ cents.

and the fine musical programme prepared by Supervisor Wetzell was thoroughly appreclated.

Superintendent Christensen opened the meeting with a few congratulatory remarks, and, after calling attention to the changes in course of study, as shown in the outline, introduced E. B. Critchlow, who addressed the teachers on the subject of the coming year's work. Mr. Critchlow waxed facetious on the subject of the joy of the parents over one teacher that returns to take up the burden of the school room, and, incidentally, to relieve the long-suffering parent of the summer vacation's trials. Speaking of his own experience as a teacher, Mr. Critchlow waid it had given him a very generous sympathy with the teacher and her summer that the coming week at 955 East First South street, where she will consult with patrons as to either the kinder-garten or the training departments. sympathy with the teacher and her work. The virtue of cheerfulness in the work of the school room was em-phasized, and teachers were urged to cultivate that most beautiful of all virtues, happiness.

Mr. Critchlow's address was followed by a finely rendered duet by Mrs. Kate Bridewell Anderson and Mrs. Wetzell, "Oh, That We Two Were Maying." State Superintendent Neison was the next speaker, and his address was along the same line of thought as that expressed by Mr. Critchlow, that of optimism. He hoped that each and trent teacher was an onlimited Every teacher. optimism. He hoped that each and every teacher was an optimist. Every child has the right to be taught by an optimist. There is no place for the pessimistic teacher, because the influence of the teacher is often everlasting. Diseases of the body may be successfully battled with, but a grain of discontent sown in the fertile field of the soul can never be eradicated. A stirring quotation from the "American School Boy" closed Mr. Nelson's speech, which was followed by a beautiful solo by Miss Berkhoel, "Oh, Ye Tears."

UNION PACIFIC STRIKE,

Wr. Luckett Says the Company Has Plenty of Mechanics.

E. M. Luckett, master mechanic of the Union Pacific, was in the city yesterday and called upon a number of friends. Mr. Luckett said there has never been a time when the equipment of the road was in better condition than the company.

It the tents were struck, arms and camping paraphenalia were packed and the soldiers donned their marching trappings.

Early in the afternoon the cavalry and battery set forth on the long march home. It was made over the dusty roads and in the heat of the sun, and when they finally arrived in Salt Lake, will officiate. The public is cordially invited to attend the cervices.

friends. Mr. Luckett said there has never been a time when the equipment of the road was in better condition than it is at the present time. He stated the road has experienced an enormous business this year, both in the freight and the passenger departments.

The road has had the same difficulty to get cars enough that has embarassed all the western roads, but, he says, it is a condition always experienced at this time of the year, although the congestion is greater the present season owing to the increased productiveness of the west. Mr. Luckett would not discuss the strike further than to say that the company has all the men it wants. The company has repended to guard for home.
